The TWC inspires and empowers by providing creative writing workshops for those deprived of voice in our society. Writing with others in an atmosphere of dignity and respect, participants discover the value of their own stories. We support the transformational power of being heard.

Join us for a writing workshop, where your personal expression is supported and encouraged. Feedback is provided in a non-judgmental, brave space. If you would like your writing to remain private, you are free to pass on sharing. English does NOT have to be your first language. The TWC promotes an inclusive city that celebrates diversity and honours the lives of all of its citizens.
